1. MAIN CHARACTERISTICS OF THE TRANSFORMATION OF THE PRINCIPAL SOCIAL CONTRADICTIONS

The report of the 19th National Congress of the Communist Party of China on "Transformation of the Principal Conflict in Society" The important conclusion has aroused heated discussion among representatives and experts, and has also been widely recognition and support. "This change will definitely have a profound impact on Chinese society in the future. have profound impact" [1]. In the face of many new social contradictions arising from comprehensively deepening reforms, we must persist in adhering to the rule of law as the starting point, we have solved many problems that we have long wanted to solve but have not yet solved. Solved puzzle. But in the new era, the overall quality of the people has continued to Improve people's material and spiritual cultural needs, fairness, justice and people's Demands for the rule of law are growing day by day, and "more prominent issues". It is unbalanced and inadequate development, which has become a problem to satisfy the people's increasing Key Constraints on Growing Good Life Needs " [2]. The inevitable development of the times has also had a certain impact on social stability. How to effectively deal with the transformation of the main social contradictions, how to Respond to the main social contradictions from a new perspective of innovation and development and transform them into public New challenges in public security management, these are the new challenges of public security society in the new era Major issues that management needs to address.

Entering the new era, the main contradiction in society has undergone historic changes: "the contradiction between the people's growing material and cultural needs and backward social production" "Transformed into "the contradiction between the people's growing needs for a better life and unbalanced and inadequate development " [3]. The main contradictions in society have undergone new changes. The prominent contradictions are the unbalanced and inadequate problems in urban and rural areas, regions, and income distribution. The opportunities and levels of development in different regions, different industries, and different groups of people vary greatly. At the same time, people are Democracy, rule of law, fairness, justice, security, Environmental and other aspects of the requirements are growing day by day, and they generally pursue better education , more stable jobs, more satisfactory income, more reliable social security, higher level of medical care, more comfortable living environment, and richer spiritual and cultural life. , showing diverse, multi-level and multi-faceted characteristics. These new characteristics determine the new trend of transformation of the main contradictions in society. Only by accurately grasping the characteristics and laws of the transformation of the main social contradictions can we effectively respond, formulate solutions, and slow down the impact and impact of the transformation of the main social contradictions on economic and social development, people's living and working in peace and contentment, as well as the impact on public security and social management.

2. THE TRANSFORMATION OF THE MAIN SOCIAL CONTRADICTIONS PLACES ON PUBLIC SECURITY AND SOCIAL MANAGEMENT

"As an important functional department of social management, the public security organs are responsible for criminal justice and administrative management, and their main tasks are essentially within the scope of social management" [4]. Specifically, the public security organs The social management functions undertaken are to maintain overall social stability, promote social fairness and justice, ensure that people live and work in peace and contentment, and provide a stable social environment and a good legal environment for the construction of the new era. The new era has given new connotation to public security social management, that is, in the comprehensive construction of a modern socialist country, closely focusing on "by 2035 , the modernization of the national governance system and governance capabilities will be basically realized; by the middle of the 21st century , To achieve the goal of modernizing the national governance system and governance capabilities, Facing the new trend of the transformation of the main contradictions in society, we must adhere to the rule of law to resolve social conflicts and rely on the rule of law to promote public security and social management, "...to make the people's sense of gain, happiness, and security more fulfilling, more secure, and more sustainable " [5] , truly make the society stable and orderly, and the people live and work in peace and contentment. In this regard, in the reality of the transformation of the main contradictions in society, public security social management is facing many new problems, , and new challenges.

2.1 The Growing Need for the Rule of Law has a Great Impact on the Construction of Public Security Under the Rule of Law

The 19th National Congress of the Communist Party of China pointed out that we must unwaveringly pursue socialism with Chinese characteristics follow the path of socialist rule of law, build a socialist country under the rule of law, adhere to the The rule of law, governance according to law, and administration according to law are jointly promoted, and the rule of law is adhered to. Integrate the construction of the country, the rule of law government, and the rule of law society. The rule of law is the economic and social an important guarantee for development. People's new pursuit of development in the new era More diversified: It is necessary to comprehensively protect legitimate rights and interests and ensure social security. It must be completely stable; it must have smooth channels for reasonable demands and secure housing. A happy working environment; not only green waters and green mountains, but also mountains of gold and silver; She looks beautiful and wants to be well-off. The pursuit of the people can only be achieved through hardships The struggle is gradually realized. Whether it is deepening reform or economic and social development, With development, we will inevitably encounter new problems and contradictions of this kind. With the advancement of large-scale urban construction, land acquisition compensation, resettlement of landless farmers problems of the people, and the problems caused by poor channels for complaints, such as pestering, troublesome, and over-level visits. Problems such as non-belief in the law when petitioning, uneven social distribution, urban and rural regional development, etc. Problems such as unbalanced development, widening gap between rich and poor, and hatred of the rich will all continue to evolve to a certain extent. exist during the period. These social conflicts will ultimately require the public security organs to be resolved in accordance with laws and regulations. Governing social conflicts in accordance with the law and properly resolving social conflicts, New and higher requirements have been put forward for the construction of law-based public security.

2.2 The Growing Demand for Justice has a Greater Impact on Public Security law Enforcement Work

Fairness and justice are the consistent pursuit of the people, and are also the basic orientation, basic norms and basic requirements for the law enforcement work of public security organs. male Security organs must always adhere to strict discipline when performing official duties and managing and handling cases. Implement the rule of law, act strictly in accordance with the law, enforce the law fairly, and do not exceed the Constitution The prerogative of the law must never allow power to replace the law, use power to suppress the law, or pursue profit against the law. The law, bending the law for personal gain. In reality, unjust, false and wrongful convictions still occur from time to time. The abuse of law enforcement power caused a public incident, and the public complained strongly about the inadequacy of law enforcement. Problems such as lax public service and low quality of law enforcement still exist. These law enforcement If the problem is not completely solved, the public security will not have the confidence to enforce the law, and the people will have no confidence in enforcing the law. If there is resentment, society will lose its integrity. Therefore, we must adhere to the people-centered law enforcement concept, protect people's rights and interests, embody fairness and justice, and solve self-defeating The bottleneck problem of deficiencies in law enforcement is the main contradiction in society in the new era. The put forward by the public security organs.

2.3 The Growing Security Demands on Public Security and Social Management

Enjoying a happier and healthier life is what the people aspire to. The most important and critical thing for public security organs to ensure the happiness of the people is to have a safe and stable public security environment and a safe environment for all people to live and work in peace and contentment. Current food safety, ecological safety, traffic safety, fire safety and terrorist activities, "Internet " Issues involving the safety of people's lives and property in aspects such as telecommunications fraud and major criminal crimes are still very prominent. Criminals have emerged in endless ways to commit crimes, the harm to society continues to intensify, and the safety of people's lives and property are seriously threatened. Public security organs are facing new challenges in effectively strengthening social security management, eliminating hidden dangers, innovating management methods, ensuring people's safety, and creating a stable and livable environment.

3. NEW ASPECTS OF PUBLIC SECURITY SOCIAL MANAGEMENT UNDER THE CHANGING SITUATION OF THE MAIN SOCIAL CONTRADICTIONS STRATEGY

“The main contradiction in our society has been transformed into the growing number of people The contradiction between the needs for a better life and unbalanced and inadequate development contradiction, explaining the historical changes in the overall situation of this relationship and its impact on the party and the country " put forward by the work" [6]. As a national administrative agency, the public security organs Guan, shouldering the important task of social management. The main contradictions in society in the new era Transformation has raised new questions and challenges for public security and social management. war. Public security organs must proactively adapt to the development requirements of the new era and explore Explore new models and new mechanisms for social management, and constantly improve ourselves in the face of new The ability and level of contradictions, prevention and control of new contradictions, and resolution of new contradictions.

3.1 Treat the Transformation of Social Contradictions with New Concepts

To treat the transformation of social conflicts with new concepts, public security organs must more deeply adhere to the people-centered development concept and law enforcement concept. Use new concepts to practice the public security organs to maintain overall social stability , It is our responsibility to promote social fairness and justice and ensure that people live and work in peace and contentment. We should correctly view the reality of the transformation of the main social contradictions with new concepts, so as to actively adapt to the development requirements of socialism with Chinese characteristics in the new era, examine new issues in social management with new concepts, and lead with new concepts. Think innovatively , conform to the new trends of the times in social management, and seize the initiative to deal with the transformation of contradictions. First, we must firmly adhere to the concept of governance according to law. Adhering to the comprehensive rule of law and building a country ruled by law are the inherent requirements of socialism with Chinese characteristics in the new era. Therefore, public security social management in the new era, We must always adhere to the principle of the rule of law, treat social conflicts with legal thinking and legal methods, create a good legal environment in which we act in accordance with the law, find the law when encountering problems, use the law to solve problems , and resolve conflicts, and ensure that everything is done in accordance with the law and the law. Everything follows the law, everything relies on the law. Second, we must firmly adhere to the concept of serving the people. The people -centered concept is the foundation and core of public security social management in the new era, and is also its important orientation. Serving the people is the overall goal of public security work. Faced with the transformation of the main contradiction in society, public security social management must adhere to doing everything for the people, relying on the people and serving the people, consciously practice the fundamental purpose of serving the people in action, and improve public opinion-oriented social management and social contradictions resolution mechanism, We should keep the people's expectations in mind and fight for the people's interests, satisfy the people's new expectations for public security work to the greatest extent, and eliminate the negative impact of transformation of social contradictions on economic and social development and the construction of a new era to the greatest extent. Third, we must firmly adhere to the concept of fairness and justice. Fairness and justice are the people's new pursuit in the new era, and it is also the people's expectations for public security social management and law enforcement work. We must closely focus on the basic value orientation of social fairness and justice, consciously put the issue of transformation of social contradictions into the track of rule of law construction, persist in using legal thinking and legal methods to promote work, and consciously respect the law, abide by the law, learn the law, and use it as behaviors Guidelines, comprehensively implement strict, fair, civilized and standardized law enforcement into every detail of law enforcement activities, solve problems of irregular and unfair law enforcement , let the people feel that fairness and justice are around them, and ultimately reduce the sources of intensification of social conflicts.

3.2 View the Transformation of Social Contradictions from a New Perspective

"Society advances in the movement of contradictions. If there are contradictions, there will be Struggle" [2]. The development and progress of the times will inevitably face the situation where old problems are solved and new problems emerge again. There will inevitably be such and such Such new contradictions and new problems. The transformation of the main contradiction in society, one side It has played an important role in promoting the development and innovation of public security social management. On the one hand, it will inevitably bring certain consequences to public security and social management. Influence and impact, therefore, must be viewed from a dichotomous perspective The problem of transformation of the main contradictions in society must be faced squarely in the creation of public security social management. new. First, we must recognize the inevitability of the transformation of the main contradictions in society. economy Social development risks are everywhere, and the main contradiction in society is risk. The main source of risk in society, the development process of economic and society is the face of The process of continuous prevention, control and crackdown on risks and various types of risks. Enter In the new era, the development speed of various economic and social constructions continues to accelerate , the pace of innovation and development in various fields continues to increase, and various social gaps continue to narrow. In the great development process, the transformation of social contradictions is inevitable. At the same time, the transformation of the main contradictions of society To a certain extent, it has a positive role in promoting the development of the new era. As a social management functional department, the public security organs must adopt a positive attitude and The professional spirit of courage to take responsibility, face the main contradictions of society, recognize the essence of the transformation of the main contradictions of society in the new era, find the pertinence of the response in the inevitability , and seek effective solutions in the pertinence. Second, we must clearly understand the controllability of the transformation of the main contradictions in society. The principal contradictions in society coexist with economic and social development and progress. This is an eternal law. As long as the economy and society continue to develop and progress, social conflicts are inevitable and will even increase with the pace of economic and social development. However, social conflicts have both inevitable aspects and preventable and controllable aspects, because the emergence, development, and Transformation and intensification both involve a process of brewing and fermentation. therefore, Public security organs must make the prevention and control of social conflicts at the source a top priority in comprehensively strengthening social management, and make full use of various public security control elements, such as position control elements, personnel control elements, house number address control elements, and social information control elements. etc., build a social conflict prevention and control network, seize opportunities, make good use of them, know ourselves and our enemies, and respond with strength. Third, we must recognize the harmfulness of intensified social conflicts. The degree of intensification of the main contradictions in society determines the degree of harm to economic and social development. For example, group incidents and group visit incidents caused by intensified social conflicts will at least affect the economic and social construction process, and at worst, will seriously restrict economic and social development, and even affect local social security and stability. Therefore, the public security organs must always remain highly aware, vigilant, and alert to the intensification of social conflicts, and fully implement the social conflict prevention, early warning, investigation, and resolution mechanisms of source investigation, normal control, timely resolution, and rule of law to nip problems in the bud.

3.3 Use New Practices to Prevent and Control the Intensification of Social Conflicts

" China is developing at a rapid pace, and there are many contradictions that need to be resolved. How to improve the quality and efficiency of case handling has become a practical problem faced by the judicial field" [7]. Facing the transformation of the main contradictions in society, innovation is a good way to solve problems. Public security organs must Adhere to the rule of law thinking and method as a new practice of social management, as an important weapon to resolve social conflicts, and as an important starting point for the construction of a harmonious society. First, we must innovate early warning methods for social conflicts. It is necessary to comprehensively strengthen the anticipatory management of the intensification of social conflicts, give full play to the function and role of public security technology informatization in preventing the intensification of social conflicts, put the prevention of social conflicts in the front, grasp the first element at the first time, and implement the first responsibility, Understand, grasp and digest possible social contradictions on the front line, minimize the intensification of social contradictions, minimize the generation and growth of social contradictions, and minimize the negative impact of social contradictions. Second, we must innovate the mechanism for investigating social conflicts. Strengthening the investigation of social conflicts is an important factor in preventing and controlling the intensification of social conflicts, and is also an important basis for effectively preventing and controlling the increase, escalation, and fission of social conflicts from the source. In response to various public security risks and safety risks that may arise in economic and social development, we must improve the risk assessment mechanism, improve the responsibility system for the investigation of hierarchical social contradictions and the mechanism for backward investigation and accountability, and form a consensus on the source of hierarchical social contradictions, joint action for risk investigation, and information Shared effective working mechanism. Third, we must innovate new ways to resolve social conflicts. Adhere to the problem-oriented and adhere to the prevention of "comprehensive management, prevention first, proper disposal, and long-term work" Resolve strategies and effectively improve the ability and level of preventing and resolving social conflicts. It is necessary to focus on the dynamics of social contradictions during the transformation period of the main social contradictions, To expand the development trend, make full use of "tradition + technology" and "Internet + police" and other means to implement all-round, multi-faceted, and efficient normalized, institutionalized, and legalized management, and completely change the traditional way of social management. We must use traditional concepts and customary practices to completely solve the problems of insufficient analysis, research and judgment, and methods to predict the intensification of social contradictions, comprehensively strengthen the informatization of analysis technology, normalize analysis and judgment, and legalize management measures, and continuously increase the transformation of the main contradictions in society. We will continue to strengthen the management and control over the period and continuously improve the capabilities and levels of public security and social management.
